Dear Gerry,

9/9/96

Thanks for th4 pictures with your 9/4(6)

Sorry Dennis did not have more time so he could have gotten more. If you can both do it together that might well be more productive.

He had told me of your feeling of being overwhelmed by the complexity. The way abound that is to eliminate or reduced the complexity. That can be done by compartmentilizing it, and that can be done.

I hope you can try to think about it that way.

Beginning perhaps with where there is less information and going from thdre to where there is progressively more.

The volume can be overwhelming and the way around that is not to try to include it all, by deciding what is more important and limiting to that where there is too much.

I think this will tend to resolve itself as you get more and more into it.

Perhaps when you and Dennis have come closer to outlining what you would like to do I can be of some help in this.

I think there may be less unusual in this than you may believe. There are many subjects on which what is available exceeds what can be used, ever what can be encompassed.

But they are handled.

Relax!

It will work out.

Thanks and best to all,

Harold
